Kara Eastman outraises Don Bacon without corporate PAC donations.

Kara Eastman has outraised Don Bacon in the second quarter finance reporting period, while continuing to make good on her pledge not to accept corporate PAC donations. Eastman is committed to campaign finance reform, including the overturning of the Citizens United Supreme Court decision.

Eastman raised $462,455 in the second quarter, with a total of $784,000 this cycle.

The vast majority of Eastman's donations come from individual donors and total more than $388,253. In contrast, Bacon raised only $108,000 from individual donors in the same time period.

Eastman said, "When elected, I will represent the people living in our district. I am proud to have raised nearly half a million dollars this quarter without corporate PAC money, and I am excited to be part of a new generation of Congressional representatives whose votes cannot be bought and sold by corporations."

Kara is the President and CEO of Omaha Healthy Kids Alliance and the Vice-Chair of the Board of Governors of Metropolitan Community College. She is the Democratic nominee running for Congress in Nebraska's Second District.
