Kara Eastman Declares Victory in the Final Debate of the Second District Race

“These debates have made it abundantly clear that we need someone new in office who will represent the needs of this district. We need someone who will stand up for the hard-working families who call Nebraska home. My opponent is not that person. He has been unable to defend his unwavering support of this administration's immoral policies and has stood by without condemning their hateful rhetoric. Our district deserves better, and I will continue to fight for common-sense solutions to the problems we are facing.”

Kara is the former President and CEO of Omaha Healthy Kids Alliance and the Vice-Chair of the Board of Governors of Metropolitan Community College. She is the Democratic nominee running for Congress in Nebraska's Second District.
